IN THE SENATE.

Several Important Matters Considered—Amendments to the House Bond Bill to Be Offered.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—In the senate Wednesday Senator Walcott (rep., Cal.), made his first appearance of the session and took the oath of office for his new term. He was greeted in a very friendly manner by his associates in the chamber.

Mr. Hale (rep., Me.), from the committee on naval affairs, reported a bill authorizing the secretary of the navy to enlist additional men for the navy, and it was placed on the calendar.

A bill to regulate the issue and recording of the commissions of civil officers in the various executive departments of the government was reported by Mr. Sherman (rep., Ohio), explained and passed.

Mr. Butler (pop., N. C.), gave notice of amendments to be offered to the house bond bill. Those amendments forbid the issue of United States bonds for any purpose whatever without authority of congress, and require the payment of greenbacks, treasury notes and of the interest and principal of coin bonds in either gold or silver coin, preferring the cheaper metal.

At 12:50 Mr. Sherman (rep., O.) made a motion to adjourn and said that he did so because he was convinced that an adjournment now would expedite business. Senators, he assumed, were aware of the reason for his motion (meaning the holding of a republican caucus).

Mr. Stewart (pop., Nev.) who had the floor for a speech Wednesday morning, suggested a postponement of the motion for one hour, but Mr. Sherman declined to withdraw it and the senate adjourned until Thursday.

GERMANY AND ENGLAND

Are on the Verge of War, and the Outlook Can Be Looked for at Any Time.

New York, Jan. 8.—Cable dispatches from London Tuesday night and information from all sources indicate that England and Germany are upon the verge of war. The challenge will no doubt come from England, if it has not already come.

It would seem that the English government leaders believe that something must be done to retain their prestige. From all sides kicks and cuffs are being administered.

Germany has been the most pronounced in its efforts at humiliation, and its course with reference to the South African republic has really gone as far as one nation can go against another without openly declaring war. It is quite certain that documents have already left London for Berlin that will mean nothing else than war if Emperor William does not at once conform with the provisions set forth. That he will not almost goes without the saying.

The news from abroad is that Chamberlain Tuesday called into consultation all the great London editors, and Wednesday's issue of the paper each conducted will practically demand war in big type. There have been orders hurriedly sent army commanders, too, and a very few hours will also see a concentration of war vessels in position to command ports important to Germany. Germany stepping back from its present position as to the South African republic, it is believed here, is all that will now prevent a clash.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

The Senate Committee Holds Its First Session—The Cuban, Venezuelan and Armenian Matters Considered.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The senate committee on foreign relations held its first meeting Wednesday morning since the re-organization of the senate. Chief among the matters referred to this committee are affairs relating to Cuba, Venezuela and Armenia. Members of the committee say the latter is one that will cause this government no end of trouble. Papers before the committee indicate that the half has not been told and how to effectually interfere without violating our national policy of evading entangling alliances with foreign powers is a problem that the skill of the committee and the diplomacy of the state department alone can solve. The recognition of the Cuban, the belligerent rights of the Cubans is also pressing upon the committee and this will be the first thing taken up next Saturday.

The Sandwich Islands.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—By unanimous consent a joint resolution offered by Mr. Spaulding (rep., Mich.) was read and referred to the committee on foreign affairs. It provides for the erection into the state of Hawaii of the territory commonly known as the Sandwich islands, with the consent of the people thereof. It carries an appropriation of $100,000 to pay the expenses of the negotiations preliminary to the constitution of the state.

Heavy Shipment of Corn.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 8.—The largest shipment of corn of the year is now passing through St. Louis. Over five hundred carloads of shelled and high-grade corn from Nebraska were handled during the past two days, and 500 more carloads are en route. The grain is being shipped to Norfolk, Va., for export. This is the beginning of what is believed will prove the largest corn shipment known in many years.

Chattanooga Press Suspended.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 8.—The Chattanooga Press suspended publication with Tuesday's issue. This leaves but one republican afternoon daily south of the Ohio river.

To Celebrate the Louisiana Purchase.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 8.—The preliminary step was taken Tuesday night for the celebration in this city of the centennial anniversary of the Louisiana purchase in 1803.

The eleventh annual exhibition of the Architectural league of New York, will be held in the galleries of the American Fine Arts society from February 13 to March 7, 1896. Everything that pertains to architecture, decoration, stained glass, mosaics, carvings in wood and metal, textile fabrics and furniture will be admitted.

APACHES AS SCOUTS.

Nearly the Whole Tribe Is in the Government Service.

Although Trained in the Manual of Arms They Fight in Their Own Savage Way When an Occasion Arises.

The Apache reservation in the eastern part of Arizona contains the first successful showing of disciplined Indians employed as a body of fighting men by the United States government, the White Mountain Apaches.

The United States has called into requisition the services of some 500 trained Indians, who have within the last five years proven invaluable in subduing uprisings in different Indian reservations. At various times the government has employed special Indian police, and individual Indians have served in the army on important scouting duty, but the utilization of the good part of a whole tribe, trained to modern arms and tactics, is a comparatively new departure. Aside from the Apaches, the only other instance on record is that of two companies of Sioux Indians attached to the United States army posted at Salt Lake City, U. T.

The Apaches are one of the most barbarous and warlike Indian tribes in North America, and until recently have not been amenable to the influence of civilization. They are related to the great Shoshone or Pacific coast Indians, a branch whose treachery and cruelty are traditionally famous among all western Indians. The Apaches are at present divided into the White Mountain Apaches and the Mesqueros. The latter tribe, now headed by the treacherous old San Juan, was formerly a band of desperadoes, led by the well-known Geronimo and the Apache "Kitt".

The Apaches are a naturally vicious people, and while they are capable of receiving a moderate degree of education, are totally unfit afterward for any other pursuit than wandering over the plains in armed bands. Even under a thorough military education they are unable to fight other than in their own methods of warfare. They learn the manual of arms and field maneuvers without any difficulty and are drilled to fire by platoons, but when it comes to the actual fighting they can operate to greater advantage if left to their own devices and inherent trickery.

The usual dress is a native woven cotton cloth shirt and turban to match, close-fitting pants and buckskin boots. In fighting trim they discard everything but the turban, boots and a loin cloth. Thus equipped and armed with a repeating rifle and cartridge belt, they make a desperate and dangerous antagonist. The territory of Arizona contains stretches of the most unproductive soil in the country, but the Apaches, muscular of limb and hardy by nature, thrive under its semi-tropical sun. An Apache's powers of endurance are phenomenal. They have been known to go two whole days, running, fighting and retreating, without tasting a mouthful of food or a drop of water. A band of 1,000 Apaches could wear the life out of an ordinary army in a month. They fight in squads of 20 or 30, scattered out over the plains and concealing themselves behind a small stone or clump of sagebrush that would scarcely hide a child. They can shoot right or left handed, either in a crouching attitude, rolled up into a ball or stretched flat in a shallow "arroyo," a ditch washed out of the soil during the rainy season.

From this ambushade they make for the footman, where they ensnare themselves in gullies and are on their pursuers with deadly effect. They are as fleet of foot as a branch, being able to outwind a horse over the parched plains. Apache messengers between government stations frequently cover a distance of 25 miles in less than three hours, and know how to elude the terrible sandstorms that sweep the desert tracts in the vicinity of the tula mountains. In mountain climbing they are like chamois, jumping from ledge to ledge with the greatest ease and agility and scaling precipitous walls on the most delicate footing. When riding horseback they almost become a part of the animal, curving around its body and bring with them the hang of one such as a true Indian hunter. The Apache scouts are especially dreaded by the Navajos, Yumas and the Maricopas, whose outbreaks they are occasionally called on to subdue, and who know them of old from the plucking expedition for which Apaches are famous.

The Apache reservation is about 250 miles from the Mexican boundary line. As they are continually at war with their neighbors or among themselves, it is difficult to estimate their numbers, but it is between 5,000 and 7,000. They speak the Spanish language almost universally, and display all the undesirable qualities of the North American Shoshone in close admixture with the blood of the Mexican Indian.

Curious Lake in Wyoming.

Bridger lake, in northwest Wyoming, has a queer characteristic, and one which cannot be claimed for any other body of water in America, so far as we have been informed. It has this peculiarity: It discharges its waters into both the Pacific ocean and the Gulf of Mexico. During the average seasons the waters of Bridger lake flow out through a small river which is a tributary to the Yellowstone, and the water thus discharged finally reaches the gulf by way of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers. During rainy seasons the level of the lake becomes so high that the waters empty through another opening also. The waters which are discharged through this second chasm flow into Snake river, and thence to the Pacific ocean through the Columbia.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had Lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to the use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for Lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at W. H. Styer's Drug Store.
